

HIGH SCHOOL DRILL TO BE COMPLETED THIS AFTERNOON

Today's Drill Program

Morning—Company E, Central 9:00; Company H, Central, 9:30; Company K, Central, 10:00; Company D, Central, 10:30; Company A, Central, 11:00; Company C, Central, 11:30.

Afternoon—Company I, Central, 2:30; Company L, Western, 3:00; Company E, Business, 3:30; Company K, McKinley, 4:00; Company F, Eastern, 4:30.

With one-half of the contest run off with such perfection of detail that military men hesitate to hazard a guess as to the winner, the High School cadets today are working as never before in their evolutions at American League park to capture the flag in the annual competitive drill.

The first company to take the field this morning was Company E, of Central High School. The others this morning will be Companies H, K, D, and A, all of Central. This afternoon the two-day competition will be closed with the appearance of Company I, of Central; Company L, of Western; Company K, of Business; Company K, of McKinley; and Company F, of Eastern, and the award of the flag to the winning company.

In the drills yesterday there was noticeable a snap and dash to the movements of the cadets that has never marked the work of the boy soldiers before. There was no doubt in the minds of the spectators that the change was due to the realization of the cadets, throughout their year's study, of the serious use some of them may be called on to put their newly acquired military knowledge to soon.

Several new features were added to the drill yesterday, with the result that it lasted longer than had been scheduled. One of the innovations was the rifle barrel inspection. The drill started yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock on schedule time, but it was not finished until the afternoon was well over.

HEADS MOTHER CHURCH.

BOSTON, June 4.—Dr. Frances Pluno, of Oakland, Cal., has been elevated to head the First Church of Christ, Scientist, here.

WHO WILL WIN HIGH SCHOOL CADET DRILL?

Capt. Leroy Mann, of Company I, Business High School, who lives at 517 Cedar street, Takoma Park, says:

"After a year of hard drilling the end of the competitive drill, the biggest event in high school competition in Washington, is near. Within a few hours after The Times is off the press to-day the result will be known. I am making no prediction that Company I will carry the banner off the field this afternoon, but I will say this: If Company I wins, it will win a well-deserved victory, for the boys have been hard at work through the year. I wait the result with calm confidence."

CAPT. LEROY MANN.

CROWD FLOCKS TO JUNE WEEK DRILLS AT NAVAL ACADEMY

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 4.—The features of today at the Naval Academy are the most interesting and varied of June week. Apparently the public has not taken it seriously that this year's June week was to be a quiet one, for people are coming to Annapolis in crowds which measure up to those of previous years.

This morning the infantry and artillery drills, which were the feature yesterday, were continued and brought to a close.

This evening, from 5 to 7, the graduates, all the members of the families, and their guests will be received at the residence of the superintendent, and later in the evening there will be an informal hop.

The competition for the right to carry the colors this year is very keen.

Secretary Daniels will arrive in Annapolis tomorrow afternoon and will present the colors to the winning company.

BIG ARMY TRACTOR HAULS GUN ABOUT ROCK CREEK PARK

Army officers feel today that the problem of moving American guns across the harrassed terrain of "No Man's Land," in Europe, has been solved by the latest production of the ordnance department, the new armored tractor.

The tractor was put through its paces yesterday in Rock Creek Park before Secretary of War Baker, Chief of Staff March and a number of foreign army men, and came up fully to the expectations of the experts. The tractor waded without a halt up a 45-degree hill and through a foot of mud that recently balked the powerful British tank Britannia, in an exhibition here. And after this proof of its power the tractor rattled off at a twelve-mile pace down a paved street without cutting the paving.

It is planned to use the new machine for hauling the American guns between three and six inches in caliber.
